SENATE.

MONDAY, January 6, 1908.

Rev. EDWARD E. HALE, Chaplain of the Senate, offered the following prayer:

*The people that sat in darkness saw a great light; and to them who sat in the region and shadow of death light is sprung up. * * * Unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of Righteousness arise with healing in His wings. * * * Repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.*

Father of light, Father of love, in the midst of darkness Thou wert pleased to reveal Thyself to all sorts and conditions of men—to all Thy children. The Sun of Righteousness arises with healing in His wings. From day to day and from year to year this world is coming nearer and nearer to its God.

And here are we, Father. Thy servants are sent to do Thy will, to enter into Thy service, that service which is perfect freedom, that Thy kingdom may come and Thy will may be done here on earth as in heaven.

As the year begins, Father, as these Christmas solemnities go by, we come to Thee as so many children of the living God, asking Thee that we may be strong with Thy strength, that we may speak as His servants, that we may enter into Thy kingdom. Hear us and answer us as Thy children.

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

The Secretary proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of Saturday, December 21, 1907, when, on request of Mr. TALIAFERRO, and by unanimous consent, the further reading was dispensed with.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Journal stands approved.

DEATH OF SENATOR STEPHEN R. MALLORY.

Mr. TALIAFERRO. Mr. President, it has become my painful duty to announce to the Senate the death of my late colleague, the Hon. STEPHEN R. MALLORY, at his home in Pensacola, at 12.48 o'clock on the morning of December 23 last.

At some future day I will ask the Senate to set aside a time to pay fitting tribute to his memory. I ask now the passage of the resolutions which I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Florida asks for the adoption of resolutions, which will be read by the Secretary. The Secretary read the resolutions, as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate has heard with profound sorrow of the death of the Hon. STEPHEN RUSSELL MALLORY, late a Senator from the State of Florida.

Resolved, That the Secretary communicate a copy of these resolutions to the House of Representatives.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the resolutions submitted by the Senator from Florida.

The resolutions were unanimously agreed to.

Mr. TALIAFERRO. As a further mark of respect to the memory of my deceased colleague, I move that the Senate now adjourn.

The motion was unanimously agreed to, and (at 12 o'clock and 5 minutes p. m.) the Senate adjourned until to-morrow, Tuesday, January 7, 1908, at 12 o'clock meridian.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, January 6, 1908.

The House met at 12 o'clock m.

The following prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. HENRY N. COUDEN, D. D.:

O Thou God and Father of us all, above all, through all, and in us all, we bless Thee for the season just passed into history, with its sacred memories and hallowed associations, which filled our hearts and homes with love and good cheer, knitting together more firmly the ties of kinship, strengthening the bonds of friendship, enlarging our vision, and widening the sphere of fraternity to all mankind.

We thank Thee that Thou hast brought us together again without the loss of any, and we most fervently pray that as we take up the work of a new year we may dwell together in unity. So rule and overrule in all our hearts that the spark of divinity which binds us to Thee may dominate our being, that we may press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Amen.

The Journal of the proceedings of Saturday, December 21, 1907, was read and approved.

SWEARING IN OF NEW MEMBER.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the credentials of Hon. C. Bascom Slemph, elected a Member of the House for the Ninth Congressional District of Virginia to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Campbell Slemph.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, my colleague, Mr. Slemph, is present, and I ask that he be sworn in.

Mr. Slemph appeared at the bar of the House and took the oath of office prescribed by law.

PROPOSED CHANGE OF REFERENCE.

Mr. HARDY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have a bill which was referred to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce referred to a committee that has little for its consideration. It is the bill introduced by myself (H. R. 11346) to compel and require railroad companies to cooperate with shippers upon inland navigable waters. I ask unanimous consent that that bill be referred to the Committee on Railways and Canals.

The SPEAKER. The Chair states that, after examination, the bill was referred, under the rule, to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. The gentleman from Texas asks unanimous consent that the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce be discharged from the consideration of the bill, and that it be referred to the Committee on Railways and Canals.

Mr. PAYNE. I object to that.

Mr. MANN. Until I have examined the bill, at least, I shall object.

Mr. HEPBURN. I have not examined the bill up to this time, and for the present I object.

Mr. HARDY. I would like to say to the gentlemen that it is not because I wish to withdraw the bill from that committee, but that committee is overloaded with bills, and they will not miss this little bill.

Mr. MANN. The gentleman does not understand how fast that committee can work.

Mr. HARDY. I would like to make one other suggestion by way of appeal. What I wish to suggest to the gentleman from Illinois is that this little Committee of Railways and Canals has a place on the schedule but none on the reference, and it does seem to me that they might have one bill referred to them without objection by the committee whose shoulders are overloaded.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman object?

Mr. MANN. I object for the present.

FIRST PAN-AMERICAN SCIENTIFIC CONGRESS.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith for the consideration of the respective Houses of the Congress a report of the Secretary of State, representing the appropriateness of early action in order that in response to the invitation of the Government of Chile the Government of the United States may be enabled fittingly to be represented at the First Pan-American Scientific Congress, to be held at Santiago, Chile, the first ten days of December, 1908.

The recommendations of this report have my hearty approval, and I hope that the Congress will see fit to make timely provision to enable the Government to respond appropriately to the invitation of the Government of Chile in the sending of delegates to a congress which can not fail to be of great interest and importance to the Governments and peoples of all the American Republics.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The message, with the accompanying documents, was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs and ordered to be printed.

CENSUS OF 1910.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

In the taking of the census of 1910 it will probably be necessary to employ about 4,000 additional persons in the temporary force at Washington. I urge upon the Congress that in the enactment of a law for the taking of the census provision be made that these persons be selected in accordance with the civil-service rules. The Civil Service Commission is amply able through its regular examinations to promptly supply all needed eligibles having the requisite qualifications.

The noncompetitive examinations used in selecting the force at Washington of the last two censuses served only as a cloak to hide the nakedness of the spoils system. Such examinations are useless as checks upon patronage appointments. They prevent the most incompetent from being appointed, but they do not secure the appointment of the most competent, and they afford no check upon political appointments. It is idle to say that such examinations are fair, for the unfairness and favoritism come in in the choosing of the men who shall be allowed to try them. The great majority of the clerical employees of the last two censuses were far below the average of the persons appointed through competitive examinations in like grades. Statistics prepared on this point show that only about 50 per cent of the applicants who were employed in the last census were able to pass the competitive examinations under the civil-service rules, while of all other applicants for the same examinations throughout the country about 67 per cent passed. As appointments are made under the competitive system from those highest in grade, there is even a much wider margin of difference in intelligence and clerical capacity between the two classes than these figures indicate. Much of the value of a census depends upon the faith of the public in it. The taint of the spoils system will not merely hamper and delay the economical and efficient taking of the census, but will impair the belief of the public in its honesty.

These additional employees are certain to seek to be retained in the permanent service at the close of taking the census. If they are selected for the temporary force upon a patronage basis it will be unjust and improper to give them preference over those of superior merit having claims under the civil-service law; and yet the very men who now most strongly object to having these employees put under the civil-service law will then endeavor in every way to secure their transfer to the service protected by that law. This has been the unflinching experience of the past. When a branch of the public service is by law exempted from the operations of the civil-service law, so as to admit persons without regard thereto, the strongest pressure is certain to come later from the very individuals who secured the passage of the exemption law to have those they exempted transferred to the classified service. This effort is being made every day. It is proof positive that all these branches of the public service like the Census should be put without qualification under the civil-service law.

I invite attention to the following letter from the Civil Service Commission and to the quotations contained in it from former Commissioners of the Census:

"DECEMBER 21, 1907.

"THE PRESIDENT:

"The bill to provide for the new census (H. R. 7597) provides that the additional employees shall be appointed upon 'such noncompetitive examination as the Director of the Census, in cooperation with the United States Civil Service Commission, may prescribe, the examinations to be held under the direction of said Commission.' * * * Persons having previous experience in census work are excepted from examinations, and the permanent force may be recruited from the temporary force. This proposed legislation is only slightly less vicious than previous census laws. By its noncompetitive feature it permits of the places being apportioned as patronage; and although the persons recommended must be examined, the examinations are not open to public competition. Persons thus appointed for patronage reasons, including persons appointed for the same reasons in previous census work, may be continued in the permanent force. This suspension of the competitive system and the substitution of the patronage system not merely in the temporary force but in the permanent force, which is now subject to competition, opens the door for the removal of persons appointed under the rules to make places for persons appointed by strong political influence. This provision is not merely a backward step, but will inflict a grave blow upon the merit system and discredit competitive examinations. It was only with great difficulty and with your very earnest support that the House provision to allow the temporary employees of the last census to be made eligible to appointment in the classified service without examination was modified.

"Hon. Carroll D. Wright, when Commissioner of the Census, stated that the absence of civil-service rules made an extra cost of $2,000,000, and afterwards said:

"The above statements more than justify the opinion which I expressed in the report on a plan for a permanent census service, for instead of an extra cost of $2,000,000, to which I guardedly limited myself, it is apparent that under the first comparison there was an extra cost of $6,421,245 and under the second comparison of $3,372,025. The magnitude of the census work, the lack of time for preparation, the temporary nature of the force, etc., may properly, and perhaps sufficiently, account for the extraordinary expense above the $2,000,000 which I have attributed to the absence of civil-service rules.

"The figures which I have given thoroughly justify the opinion Mr. Porter expressed to me several years ago, that it would have been much better had the Eleventh Census been taken in accordance with civil-service rules, an opinion he has now given to the public in an interesting article in the North American Review for the current month (December, 1897), in which he gives as one of the faults of the system under which censuses have been taken 'the placing upon the shoulders of the Superintendent, whose mind should be fully occupied with his experts in planning the work, the responsibility of the appointment of an office force of several thousand of clerks.'

"I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

"JOHN C. BLACK, Commissioner."
